Orienteering is the Scandinavian sport of map reading and navigation. It can be a serious competition for elite XC skiers & snowshoe runners, or a fun map-reading excursion for non-competitive participants. The objective is to read the map provided to you, find your way to each checkpoint location, and return to the finish. It's a chance for you to spend a day in the woods, learn a new skill, and have some fun individually or as a team. Join us! Beginners, kids and families are especially welcome.
